Digital Yacht PC Nav System with Furuno Radar and Timezero Software

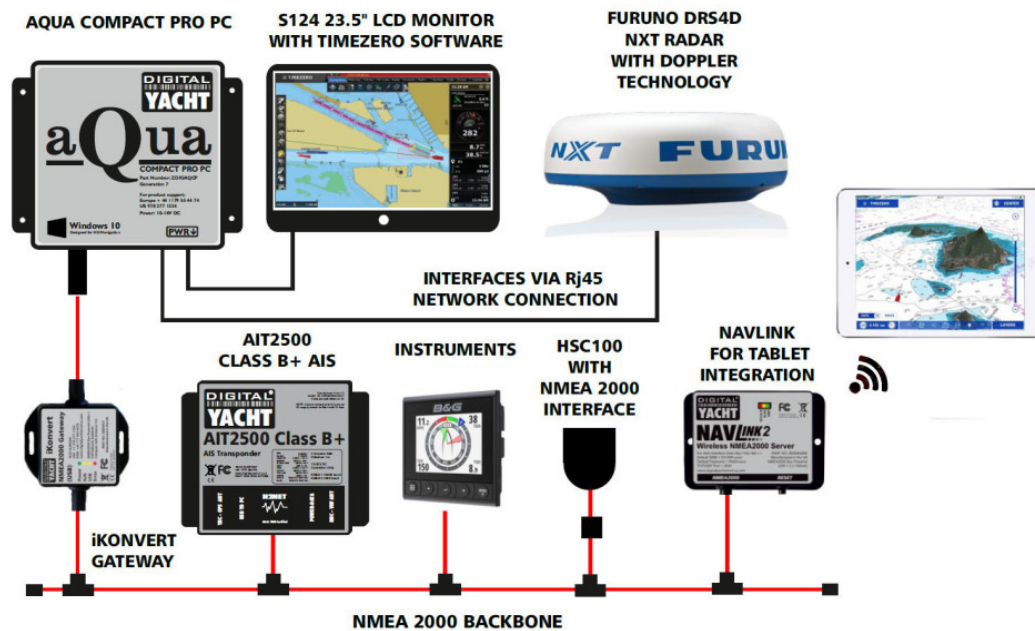

Dear Partner,

Digital Yacht Aqua PCs, AIS, sensors, NMEA interfaces and wireless gateways are the perfect hardware partner for TimeZero/MaxSea navigation software plus we now offer radar integration with the latest Furuno DRS4D NXT digital doppler radars.

The DRS4D-NXT is the first radome radar in the World to use doppler technology allowing easy discrimination of targets that are dangerous and presenting a simple colour coded target showing if the vessel is moving away or coming towards your vessel. The radar connects to the Aqua Compact PRO via a network cable.

Our solutions integrate AIS, GPS and other instrument data with TimeZero software via the iKonvert USB gateway. This creates a multi-function system with a 23.5" HD monitor and up to three displays can be connected. Our HSC100 fluxgate compass is connected to the network to optimise radar performance in track and heading mode. This is truly a next generation navigation solution at a remarkably affordable price.

Our PC Nav System with radar and NMEA 2000 Integration is available now - more details HERE. You can review a complete overview of this PC Nav System, optimised for use with TimeZero, by clicking on the download button at the bottom of the page or by clicking HERE.

If you're a reseller, distributor or dealer, feel free to reach out to us for details of our trade programs. A copy of our latest pricelist is available to download from HERE.

Kind regards,
